THE PROTECTION CANDIDATE.

Mr. BLAINE received the news of ex-Sena tor Habusson's nomination from The World correspondent. "It's a good nomination," was Mr. Blaine's sole remark.

It is a good nomination. HARRISON is a good lawyer; he filled for years one of the most important legal offices in his State. He is an honest statesman; he was six years in the United States Senate and came out poorer than he went in. He is patriotic; he served through the war for the Union, rising from Second Lieutenant to Brigadier-General. He is an honest man; his public record and his private character are unblemished.

It is well to have such men nominated for high offices. But this Presidential contest is to be fought on principles, not on persons. Mr. CLEVELAND will be supported by those who desire to see the war tariff modified and taxation reduced ; Gen. HARRISON by those who are resolved that the war tariff shall not be changed except it be to increase the duties for the benefit of protected interests,

KEEP IT UP, CAPTAIN!

Well done, Capt. REILLY. You lost no time in closing the vile gambling den for boys on Sixth avenue after THE WORLD had exposed its existence. It would have been a little more to your credit if you had found out the den yourself and arrested its proprietors. It might have been supposed that your men who patrol the streets at all hours would have discovered it and reported the fact to you. But no matter, we give you credit for having stopped it, anyway.

Now will you rub your eyes and examine for yourself the other illegal and disgraceful resorts of vice and crime with which your district abounds? We have some of them "on the list," and it will be just as well, perhaps, if you raid them without waiting to have your duty pointed out to you by the

The case is another illustration of the folly of the practice of compounding such felonies. PITCHER no doubt felt confident that by cleaning out the keep about half his stealings, so that he can get a good big mess of fish, and those who are would not be a broken PITCHER for the balance of his life. The banks have only themselves to blame for the frequency of such crimes. In this case it is to be hoped the PITCHER may be caught before his felony is compounded.

VICTIMIZING CONSUMERS.

The wholesale grocers are in session in this city. One of their objects, as announced by a private circular, is to make some arrangement or combination by which the retail grocers can be compelled to raise the price of sugar. It is alleged that sugars are now sold at a loss in order to induce customers to buy teas, coffees and other articles out of which a larger profit is made. The wholesale grocers want to raise the price all round so as to insure a better price both to the wholesale and retail sugar trade.

It is to be hoped, in the interest of the consumers, that no such scheme will be successful. The people pay quite enough for their sugar, and the whole difficulty lies in the rascally Sugar Trust. If that monopoly is allowed to crush out the few independent refineries still left in business, sugar will soon be a luxury beyond the reach of the poor.

PROTECT THE PACTORY WORKERS.

The fire at the cigar factory on First avecalamity. As it was, it was miraculous that the men and women employed in the three factories all escaped with their lives.

It is an outrage that this packing together of human beings in a building from which the escape of more than a thousand people must necessarily be a slow and difficult process, should be allowed. There ought to be some regard for human life, even if its esor is poor and has to labor in a factory for a living. Why do not our lawmakers, who are always ready to look after the interests of wealthy corporations, take care that some effective protection is afforded by the the statutes to the lives and health of the men, women and children who are employed in these monster city factories?

What a prize it would have been for our dock rate" if they had known that the fourteen-year-old boy employed in the Adams Express Company on a Jersey City pier was in the habit of searching express packages for money and dropping their less portable contents — watches, jewelry and other valuables—into the water. They would doubtless have been speedily searching in the mud alongside the pier for the plunder other divers are now engaged in recovering.

The nomination of Mr. Levi Parsons MORTON for Vice-President on the Republican ticket is a concession to the Stalwarts and a bid for New York's vote. Mr. MORTON has creditably filled the positions of Congressman and Minister to France, is a prominent banker, and hes plenty of money, which he never begrudges to his party. The New York delegation was unanimous for Monron, as it had been for Hannison.

WORLDLINGS.

Daniel Dougherty, the silver-tongued orator who nominated Cleveland at St. Louis, gained his first docutionary training in amateur theatricals in Philadelphia years ago. Among his colleagues on the amateur stage was the late John McCullough. John Adkins a colored boy of thirteen living in Augusta, Ga., is a musical prodigy. He plays with great accuracy on the plane or organ any nne he may have heard, and for four years past has been organist at the colored Baptist Church in Augusta.

One of the industries of Los Angeles, Cal., is an ostrich farm, where there are sixty of the curious birds. Each male os rich yields $300 a year in plumes and each female $250 worth of plumes and eggs that are worth $100. The eggs find a ready sale at $2 each.

Ex-Boss Stepherd, who, a dozen years ago was the worst talked about man in Washington, is now frequently seen at the capital. When he retire to private tile he was practically a bankrupt, but he has since made from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 in Mexic n mines.

There was an extraordinary rainfall in St. Louis the other day, more than four inches of water falling from the clouds within cleven hours. The signal service observer tiere says that the rainfall was unprecedented in the history of the station, which has been established for eighteen years.

A Journalistic Triumph.

The unfailing regularity with which the bulletins of The Evening World kept ahead nue might have resulted in a frightful of all competitors in the news of the Chicago Convention from start to finish is due to two causes-first, the admirable service of the Postal Telegraph Company, and secondly and very conspicuously, to the exceptional ability, foresight and promptness of Mr. Geo. H. Dickinson. The Evening World's representative at Chicago, who had charge of the bulletin service.

The work of Mr. Dickinson is a notable sample of Evening World enterprise, and is worthy of public recognition.

Over 22,000 Organized Commercial and Railroad Operators.

Their Constant Struggle Against Monopoly.

BY TOM O'REILLY.

[WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE EVENING WORLD. The Telegraph Operators of the United States and Canada have organized because their interests cannot with safety be left to the whims of corporations. They have organized to maintain their standing as a profession as honorable as any in existence. They have not organized to bulldoze, to threaten, to intimidate, but to educate.

We know full well that in order to draw from corporations their respect a solid organized front must be maintained. We know also that thorough organization means education and determination. It has been fully demonstrated by experience that organiza tion and unity of action among telegraphers are imperative and essential in order to combut the ever-growing encroachments of organized and consolidated capital.

AIMS OF THE BROTHERHOOD. The objects of the Brotherhood are th social, financial and beneficial improvement of its members by industry, economy and sobriety ; by advocating shorter hours of labor. increased compensation and equal pay to both sexes for equal work ; to use all honorable means to crush out telegraphic schools wherever found.

We believe that the fraternity has passed its striking ordeal, and that hereafter troub'e will be amicably adjusted by arbitration. The companies were taught a valuable lesson in 1883, and will be apt to treat with authorized representatives in the future. The strongest organizations to day cause the least trouble, and the telegraphers are being educated to this point. When once attained the position will be easily held.

DANGERS TO BE GUARDED AGAINST. DANGERS TO BE GUARDED AGAINST.

If it were not for the present organization holding in check the downward tendency of the commercial operators, it would be difficult to foretell where the periodical cutthroat competition for business would land the proferation. To strengthen the Brotherhood would be wisdom on the part of everyone. We hope to see the railroad and comone. We hope to see the railroad and com-mercial operators join hand in hand for the suppression of student teaching, for the ele-vation of the profession and for the general good of those who expect to spend their lives good of those who expect to spend their lives at the key.

The telegraph now ranks as one of the most important branches of the public service, and operators are at present working under conditious and in a manner which many electricians but a few years ago declared to be possible only in theory.

The service may now be classed as a profession, and its claim is indisputable the moment it emerges from the necessary elerical labor attaching to it; and so necessary is it, and a necessity growing daily, that the clerical labor be supplemented by a knowledge of the science of electricity, that it must elevate the nature of the particular description of labor which operators are called upon to perform. A TELEGRAPHER'S DUTIES.

What is required at the hands of a telegrapher? In the first place it is necessary that he be an expert operator and his knowledge of things, generally speaking, universal. Business transactions of every conceivable nature pass through his hands. His acquaintance with Stock Exchange quotations, the prices of the innumerable articles of the produce market, the current prices of coal, wheat, iron, wood, &c., should be as familiar to him as the ambimetical tables to an ordinary individual: and further, he needs to be well posted in political events—home and foreign—all descriptions of sport and numberless other things, in order to render an efficient service to the public, the press and the companies.

If the profession is to be worked to the satisfaction of our merchants, brokers, business men, the press, and the public generally, it is but right and just that a fair remuneration be granted to those efficient operators ally, it is but right and just that a fair remuneration be granted to those efficient operators at present in the service, and that a fair prospect be held out to those who are always ready to meet the ever-increasing demands that may be made upon them by a department daily increasing in public importance.

We lay emphasis on the fact that our work is really exhaustive mental labor. It seems but reasonable, therefore, that the remuneration should furnish an independent livelihood to those willing to devote themselves to the work, and, further, that it should bear something like a just proportion to the importance work, and, further, that it should bear some-thing like a just proportion to the importance of our duties, thus at once securing and re-taining the zealous services of an experienced and contented staff all over the country. No operator should be required to work more man eight hours per day, and first-class operators should receive for their labors not less than $100 per month.

POLICY OF THE WESTERN UNION.

The Western Union has pursued a policy of periodical reductions during the past twelve years, and now the average salary is about $55 per month. The amount necessary to maintain existence is made up by working extra time. The regular night men are com-pelled to work extra during the day, and the regular day men work extra at night, At what sacrifice? At the cost of health, com-fort, pieusure, independence and life's whole

THE BROTHERHOOD HARMONIOUS. The strength of our Brotherhood lies entirely in the perfect concordance of 'ts members as to the path to be followed and the certainty that the moment of action will find them ranged in a compact phalanx, strong in reciprocal trust and bound together by unity of will, beneath a common banner, Whatof will, beneath a common banner, What-ever course is eventually forced upon the operators will find them fully prepared. We have awakened to the consciousness of our power and strength and soon will have achieved our emancipation.

MEMBERSHIP. The Brotherhood of Telegraphers is working under the jurisdiction of the most powerful labor confederation in the world, known as the Knigh s of Labor. The organized commercial operators number a little over 10,000 memb rs, while the order of Railroad Telegraphers boasts a membership of 12,000.

We have a professional organ, the Electric Age, conducte by two of the most intellectual energetic and popular members of the craft, Walter P. Phillips and John B. Talta-

A BANEFUL INFLUENCE. Gouldism has made rostal telegraphy a burning question and has forced it upon the attention of the people. We believe that if it were submitted to the people to-morrow to decide by popular vote whether the Gov-ernment should at once establish a system of postal telegraphy there is no question but that it would be carried in the affirmative by that it would be carried in the affirmative by an overwhelming majority.

Gouldsam is a baneful influence: it blights and destroys whatever it fastens upon. It is conscienceless and remorseless. It bursues bad ends with every means that ingenity can devise and money command. It perverts the machinery of the law to circumvent legality. It tempts the greedy with the display of its ill gotten wealth, and uses its hoard to render inevitable the ruin of all who take the bait. It lures capital and investment with false representations, and impoverishes the widow and the orphan as con-tainly and as ruthlessly as it squeezes the stock gambler.

Yet there is something striking and wonderful in its achievements, however much we are bound to execrate its methods. It seizes upon men's minds, this rapid accumulation of great wealth, the open avowal and defense of corrupt and corrupting practices, the purchase of courts and legislatures, the maintenance of a subsidized press openly siding its schemes of plunder, and all leading, not to a prison and disgrace as would seem fit and natural, but to public notoriety not unmixed with admiration, to deference for its utterances and respect for its opinions, to intimacy with the great and trusted leaders in finance, politics and the law, to a seat at the council boards of banks, trust companies and great corporations, to flattery and to the bended knee.

This is Presidential year and whenever was a Presidential year not one of prosperity to telegraphers?

to telegraphers?

THE FIGHT TO GO ON.

The work of organization in our ranks will not be relaxed, but will be prosecuted on a broader ground and on deeper lines than before. The facts, the experience and the arguments by which agitation was sustained five years ago are as strong now as they ever were. The need of it is indisputable. The aspiration for a better condition and the effort to attain it is creditable. It implies intelligence, self-respect and an appreciation telligence, self-respect and an appreciation of personal rights.

THE VOICE OF CALIFORNIA.

It Speaks Very Plainly in Memory of Harrison's Chinese Vote. SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD, San Francisco, Cal., June 26 .- In the course of its editorial on the Chicago nominations this morning the Chronicle (Rep.) 'Gen. Harrison has been elected as the Republican candidate not by the State of

"Gen. Harrison has been elected as the Republican candidate not by the State of California, but by the great Republican party in convention assembled * * * and it is the duty and doubtless will be the pleasure of every genuine Republican to give him cheerful, earnest and party support.

Morton's name carries weight and will undoubtedly make the ticket stronger in New York, where strength is most needed.

The Alta (Dem.) says:
"There is present portentous and actual danger in supporting Harrison in this State. The Republicans have before them an opportunity to show that their anti-Chinese zeal has not been a pretense. If they wish to save their party in California from absolute destruction, let them reject Harrison and refuse to put an electoral ticket in the field. The whole State will await the decision with interest."

The Post (Rep.) says editorially:
"Harrison was not the first choice of the voters of California. Gresham or Alger represent the attitude of the coast far more closely than Harrison, especially on the Chinese question, and California would have been far better satisfied had either of these men been chosen, but Harrison comes from a doubtful State, and it is of the highest importance that the party should carry that State in November. It is probable that his supporters have given assurances that his vote as Senator six years ago does not represent his present attitude on the Chinese question, and that he is sound on the silver question, in the Examiner (Dem.) says:

ticn."
The Examiner (Dem.) says:
"We trust we shall be spared any personal scandals in this campaign. There will, however, certainly be no need of personal slanders when there is such a public record as Harrison's to discuss.

"California has never had an opportunity to show unmistakably her opinion of a pro-Chinese candidate. This year we shall bave a square chance at one of the men whom California Republicans, in 1882, swore never to forget." forget.

The Englishman's View of It.

London, June 26 .- The press of the city. where they notice the Republican nominations in Chicago yesterday at all, treat them in the customary indifferent manner. The Times thinks that the State of New York will decide the election as before, and should Harrison be elected Blaine will possibly become a powerful Minister. Blaine, the Times believes, has overreached himself.

The Pall Mall Gazette thinks Harrison has as much chance of becoming King of England as President.

Wide-Awake Republicans. The Republicans of the Sixteenth Assembly Dis-trict were determined to be informed of the pro-

trict were determined to be informed of the proceedings of the Chicago Convention without delay, and a special wire placed in the rooms of the Lincoln Club, corner of Nincteen a street and Taired avenue, enabled them to swing out their Harrison banner in the short time of forty-five minutes after the nomination was maile.

Mr. Morton's nomination later on was celebrated with a display of fireworks. The remarks of John H. Cavanaga, Frank H. Daly and Dr. Cole served to brace up the lukewarm if any were present.

Henry George's Placing of the Chief Chicago

Henry George said to an Evening World reporter that he deemed the nomination of Harrison a very weak one, and that the Chiago ticket will be defeated.

He thinks that the masses are beginning to understand that the protection talked about by the Republicans is not protection for the laborer, but an unnecessary assessment upon his earnings, which goes into the pockets of capitalists and into the United States Treasury to swell the surplus, which is already too

UNION WORKINGMEN'S OPINIONS.

Conversa ions with many union workmen by an Evening World reporter indicate that the nomination of Harrison is not received among them with the same satisfaction as that which Mr. Blaine would have inspired.

Michael Foley, a well-known leader in the Second Assembly District, where he is chairman of the United Labor Party organization, said: "I will not support either Harrison or Cleveland. I think it would have been wise if the Republicans had taken Gresham."

Jesse Miller, of the Soildarity Clothing Cutters and delegate to District Assembly No. 49—I think Harri on's a pretty good nomination. Of course I am in favor of protection, and shall support that side. I believe Sherman would have been a stronger man than Harrison, and Blaine would have been stronger than all. Harrison's record on the Chinese bill may injure him.

George W. Dunne, of the Dry-Goods Salesmen's Association and delegate to District Assembly No. 49—I think it the best choice they could have made, outside of Blaine.

Lewis P. Delan, of the Furniture and Carpet Employees' Association—I think there will not be such a falling off in the Republican vote as there was for Blaine. Harrison will unite the Mugwumps and other opposing factions. The Chinese matter is all nonsense. We are a great nation, and need have no fear of such things.

A. J. Norton, of the Clothing Salesmen's Union—I am a Democrat and think Harrison's nomination means a sure defeat for the Republican party. His record on the Chinese Emigration bill will cost him California, which lavored Blaine because of the strong s and he took against the importation of the Chinese. Cleveland will carry California this time.

John Nolan, of the Sewing-Machine Salesmen's Association—I favor Harrison's nomination, but would have preferred Blaine. The opposition from the workingmen and his record on the Chinese bill will not amount to much.

Ben Simon, of the Clothing Salesmen's Association—I think it will prove a walk over for the Democrats—the first real one in twenty-eight years. Harrison's Chinese record and his severe measures against the labor people will kill his chances in the doubtful States.

C. D. Duke, of the Clothing Salesmen's Association—I think well of Gen. Harrison. He comes from good stock and is a representative American.

Disastrous Results of the Mexican Flood.

The Town of Leon Buried Beneath the Waters.

Three Hundred Mexican Houses Swept Away.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENTER WORLD. GALVESTON, June 26. - Advices from the City of Mexico, now that telegraphic communication has been rentored, show that the floods have caused a terrible disaster on the line of the Mexican Central Railway, particularly at Leon and Silso. For ten days the table lands between here and Zacatecas have been swept by a torrent. All the valleys have become lakes. Many towns have been inundated. Leon and Silao have been nearly destroyed. Three hundred bouses have been swept away.

The river near Leon overflowed. The people believing themselves secure from the flood, went o bed in those parts of the town where the water had not found its way. The steady downfall of rain with the extensive water-bed of the outlying country, increased the flow of the river and rapidly extended its channel antil over half of Leon was under water. Houses tumbled in rapidly and the loss of life began. There has never been anything like it in modern times. Soon the buildings began to fall, and their innates were either drowned or crushed to death. It is impossible to describe that night of horrer.

Mothers with babes in their arms were driven tute

This seemed to tickle the court audience, and everybody laughed. and everybody langhed.

Frank Wise, an old actor and stage manager: John B. Little, the theatrical printer, and John B. Porter, who acted as ticket-seller for Hill and Mather, were called as witnesses regarding details of theatrical management.

The drift of the defense is to show that the bone of contention between Miss Mather and her manager since her debut in 1881 was the scason spent at the Union Square Theatre in 1885-86, when a loss of $27,844 was Theatre in 1885-86, when a loss of $27,844 was sustained.

Miss Mather, according to the witnesses. was unable to comprehend the business wisdom of doing all that season's work for nothing and at heavy loss.

Judge Dittenheefer sought to show that the company was so poorly managed on its trips that no one knew from one day to another where the next stand would be made, and by the foregoing witnesses the defense endeavored to show that there was a perfect understanding of the route to be followed.

And as to those books, according to Witness Porter, they were always open to Miss Mather or any one alse, and Miss Mather did, on one occasion, in 1885, remark jocosely as she looked up from her study of the socounts, "I am getting to be quite a book-keeper."

At another time there was some badinage as to whether Mary Anderson or Miss Mather was making the most money, and Miss Mather and Mr. Hill examined the books and proved that Margaret had been more favored than Mary in Chicago.

Manager Hill took the stand shortly before the recess, in his own behalf.
